MORE ABOUT SPRINTER SMITH'S DEFEAT

John Loomis, the well-known poolseller of this city, returned from New York yesterday morning. Mr. Loomis has had a busy time of it down East, and was brimful of information yesterday regarding the Eastern tracks, running horses in general and the jockeys. During a conversation with a representative of this paper he said. "I severed my connections with Price & Co. about two months ago. Since then I have been doing business on my own account at Gutten-berg and Clifton. The game at both places, however, is a hard one to beat, but there is really as much money at each track as can ordinarily be found in circulation at any of the Days the crowds were the largest ever seen on the tracks. This shows conclusively that the interest in the turf down East is extremely

THE GREATEST ON RECORD.

"The prospects for the year are better than ever known. O course the Futurity stakes is the great event to which everybody is looking forward. The public have little idea of the great importance of this race. At present there the stakes will not be short of $100,000. Certainly the stakes will be the most valuable in the world, and greater than anything ever known on the turf. It would seem impossible to even say what stable is likely to have the winners, but there are two youngsters that are the talk of the talent. One of them is Pell Mell, 2-year-old, recently imported by Milton Young from England. It is reported that this youngster is capable of doing great things. At any rate, good judges speak very highly of any rate, good judges speak very highly of the horse. The other 2-year-old is owned by George Cadwallader, of Lexington and is by Longfellow. The Southern people expect a winner in this young customer. However, as I have just said, nobody can tell what the result will be. The race will be one of the most extraordinary ever known. Almost every stable in the country is trying to lay hold of a winner, and this means that some remarkable 2-year-olds will start in the race."

Regarding the jockeys Mr. Loomis said: "Captain Sam Brown has secured a valuable little chap in Bergen. He is an excellent jockey, and will become better. Garrison will ride again next seasoa. Of course there are stories in circulation to the effect that he will have a stable of his own to look after, but I was with him a few evenings ago and I think that he is engaged to ride for Haggins.

A FAILURE AT NEW ORLEANS.

A FAILURE AT NEW ORLEANS. "I saw little Vincent on Monday. He had just returned from New Orleans and informed me that the winter races there were practically a failure. He stated that there were only three bookmakers doing business and that the attendance at the races was miscrable. Of course, the fine weather in the East is in a measure responsible for this. The fact is that the weather at Clifton and Guttenberg has generally been as good as anybody could desire; this being the case there has been no inclination to go South. "Until the weights are published for the Suburban and Brooklyn handicap nobody cares about venturing an opinion concerning them. about venturing an opinion concerning them. Banburg, of course, is a good horse under cer-tain conditions. If the track is good and the starters not too numerous, and he gets a reason-able weight, he will go well, as he has a long stride. George Forbes owns him, and expects him to do well this season. I was in company with Mr. Forbes on Wednesday, when he received a letter from his trainer, Mr. Burgess. The Forbes stable is at Woodstock, Canada, and the trainer says all the horses are doing and the trainer says all the horses are doing well. He speaks highly of St. Valentine."

Mr. Loomis talked at length about the Bookmakers' Association and the new rule preventing its members from doing business on the Eastern tracks. The speaker said: "The association will certainly stand out against the rule, and the probability is that it will prove a failure. The tracks receive about $75 per day from each firm, and there are generally $90 or 70 of them doing business. The loss of this revenue will surprise the track authorities. However, I think matters will be fixed up all right."

The Well-Known Boxer Leaves the Ring and Becomes a Constable.

PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH 1 PHILADELPHIA, January 11 .- Jack Fogarty. the celebrated middle-weight boxer, who gave Jack Dempsey the tightest fight the champion ever had in his long experience, has been ap-pointed constable of the Third ward by the Court of Quarter Sessions. Fogarty will be a candidate for the full term of five years at the coming election.

The new constable, who is a manly fellow, The new constable, who is a manly fellow, when he received his commission to-day said: "Well, this takes Jack Fogarty out of the ring. I have been waiting for something to do to keep me at home. My family have been residents of the Third ward for a quarter of a century, and it is my earnest wish to settle down and remain with them. If elected: ext month there is nothing that would induce me to again enter the ring. I think I have proved to my friends that there is no lack of sand in me. I retire simply because I want to be with my family and have no love for the roving life of a professional sparrer. That I will give satisfaction in my new office I carnestly hope, and will do my duty to the best of my ability."

A Report to the Effect That Four Players Will be Released.

The latest report about the local ba club is to the effect that at the recent annual meeting of the directors it was decided to release four of the players now under contract lease four of the players now under contract shortly atter the season opens. The directors, according to the report, each wrote four names on a slip of a paper, and the four players being most strongly recommended for release to be dispensed. It is further stated that Harry Staley, the pitcher, was on some of the slips. the pitcher, was on some of the slips.

The club officials claim to know nothing of this method of reducing the number of their players, although the trath of the report is well supported by evidence.

Lincoln, Jr., as Secretary. It has been decided to hold a bench show of dogs in April next, and the enthusiastic responses which have been received from prominent Eastern exhibitors and others indicate that it will be highly successful, and second only to New York. In some of its details it is paterned after the New York show, and the premium lists are almost identical, some few changes being made for local incal, some few changes being made for local in-terest. The silver medal prizes will be very handsome and will bear the seal of the club.

Roche says that Kilrain stated particularly that he would be pleased to have the money placed in Mr. Dwyer's hands. As soon as Kilrain has seen Charley Johnson and made what arrangements with him he can he will leave for his home in Baltimore, and Charley Mitchell will depart for England to stay about a month. Kilrain will not accompany him, as has been stated, but will go in training at once at Green Spring Valley, 12 miles from Baltimore. Mitchell will bring his family to this country and will train Jake and second him in his fight, beside being the manager of it. All three fights are certain to be interesting, Captain A. W. Cooke has advices from San Francisco which state that Tommy Warren has $500 up and a challenge to fight Weir at 116 pounds, and that the newspapers and public generally are "sore" on Warren. She Will Proceed to Filibuster if the Crew

A number of men aboard a fishing steamer called the Novelty, which reached New York from Boston Thursday night, descrted the craft in the metropolis because they feared they had been shipped aboard a filibuster bound for Hayti. Gattling guns and ordnance formed the principal cargo, and the men didn't particularly care to court almost certain death between war and vellow fever. [SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] NEW YORK, January 11.-The fishing steamer Novelty, which left Boston on Tuesday for this city, is at Merritt's dock, Stapleton, and is reported to be loaded with 30 pieces of ordnance of various grades and got to Stapleton her name was not visible on any of the three places specified by the law. All was quiet on board, but toward noon vesterday it was noticed that an unusually large number of men were aboard her, and that few of them had the appearher, and that few of them had the appearance of men familiar with life at sea.

Soon thereafter some 15 or so of the men left the craft and boarded a train for St. George at the Stapleton station. All they would say concerning the vessel and themselves was that they had left the vessel because the Captain would give them no information as to what port the craft was bound for. They suspected that she had cleared from Boston for Hayti, and they did not care to risk arrest as filibusters or death by yellow fever.

A NEW BOAT THROUGHOUT.

A NEW BOAT THROUGHOUT. A survey of the craft showed that she had undergone a thorough renovation. A new spar was reared forward and another aft of the was reared forward and another aft of the house. The tackle and blocks were new. The hatchways were tightly closed and made flush with the decks. A painter's scaffold was swung over the stern. A trim-dooking steam launch, about 35 feet long, stood in a frame on the star board side of the forward deck. Two yawl beats, painted white and bearing the name of the old Boston steamship Roman, were upon the after part of the house. Between them lay a couple of dories. The built had recently been painted black, with white lines.

A young man, who looked like a country man, was pacing the starbeard deck, and he greeted a party of reporters with a look of annoyance. He curtly refused to answer any questions, and disappeared down a companionway. Several other young men, who appeared every now and then on deck, declined to be questioned, on the ground that they knew nothing about the craft, and had shipped for no port in particular.

Pesistent queries led a middle aged man who was found to say that he believed the craft was bound for Haytl or San Domingo. She sailed from Boston early this week, and he had arrived during the morning in New York. He understood that the craft had been sold for a gunboat, and that guns were expected aboard. The hold was empty, and outside of the guns, no cargo was expected. The bunkers contained about 200 tons of coal. When the craft was delivered to her new owner he expected to return by steamer to New York. The captain and chief engineer were away in quest of men to fill the places of those who left in the morning.

SOLD FOR A GUNBOAT. During the afternoon it was learned that the chief engineer had endeavored to ship Owen Williams, a well-known citizen of Stapleton, as assistant engineer. Williams said he was told that the craft was bound for Somona, a seaport of San Domingo. She had been sold for a gunboat, and a crew of 27 men were needed to take her down. He was promised passage north on a steamship, should he ship.

When the Captain, who says his name is Terry, returned at 7 o'clock last night, he brought with him 12 men and bustled them aboard. Five of them did not like the looks of things and left the vessel. Seven went below. A short man, who had not before been visible, came on deck. He said he was George Bowman, the super-cargo. "I sold this steamer." he said. "to the Haytian Consul of New York City. She is now bound for Somona. She will be used as a gunboat. Her name has been changed to Mercedes. She can steam 12 knots an hour." n nour."

Captain Terry is a stout, ruddy-faced man, of jovial disposition and wears a heavy mustache. He was jocular. He pointed about the dock and said: "Isn't this a splendid place for a pivot gun? Look at those low bulwarks. Wouldn't she have a long reach? I wonder whether she would stand the shock from the discharge of a gun?"

The reporter then started down into the forecastle, but the captain hastily detained him with a heavy hand upon his shoulder. "You had better not go down there," he said, just confine your movements to the deck here." The reporter then asked him what he had down there that he didn't want seen. He replied: "I don't know as there is anything down there except, maybe,

The reporter next asked if the Mercede would sail under the American flag. Captain Terry replied: "No, we will sail under the Dominican flag, but we haven't got it aboard yet. It will be sent aboard later. We will try to get off to-night." The crew was a motley-looking crowd. None

The crew was a motiey-looking crowd. None looked like a seaman, and a few of them wore Prince Albert coats. One had on gold-rimmed spectacles. They were a pale-faced lot, and didn't know the difference between the stem and the stern of the vessel. They declared that they had only been employed to take the vessel down to her destination, and that they hoped they would not be seasick on the way. The agreement was to send them back by the first returning steamer as passengers. The entire crew consisted of the captain, two mates, a chief engineer and two assistants, the super-cargo and 20 men—a big crew for a steam tug. They must have stowed themselves in like sardines.

Minister Preston said to-night that it was well understood at Boston that the Novelty was intended for fillbustering purposes in Haytian waters.

The city authorities are now anxious to create competition for electric lighting, and for that purpose they are advertising all over the country for bids on contracts to light the entire city. This is undoubtedly a large undertaking, because St. Louis is the fourth largest city in the Union. Lord Salisbury Asserts That Sackney Congratulates the Buildville West's Dismissal Was ers - Successful Tests.

OPPOSED TO INTERNATIONAL LAW.

German Catholics in America to Have Separate Parishes.

PRESIDENT LEROYER IS FOR LIBERTY. The French Government Will Go Slow in the Panan

Canal Matter.

The British Government has issued a blue ook on the Sackville affair, and intimates that Secretary Bayard does not know his business and has been guilty of a grave breach of international courtesy. The efforts of the German Catholics in this country to have their own churches, schools, etc., in which the German language is to be used, seem likely to be crowned with success.

The French Government declares it cannot be set than 20 knots an hour, as required by statute. The first run over the course was in the direction of tide and was made in 6 minutes 39 seconds, which gave a rate of 22.95 knots per hour. The second run against the tide was made in 7:30, showing a rate of 20.35 knots. The mean speed of the two runs was therefore 21.65. The French Government declares it cannot act hastily in passing bankruptcy legislation to relieve the Panama Canal Company.

LONDON, January 12 .- A blue book on the Sackville affair has just been published. Interest in the book centers in a dispatch dated October 24, to Mr. Phelps, in which, observing that in the judgment of the Government, Lord Sackville's conduct had ceased to be of importance, President Cleveland having already sent him his passports. Lord Salisbury controverts the idea that the acceptance or retention of a Minister is a question to be determined solely, with or without the reasons assigned, by the Government to which he is accredited. In this natter Lord Salisbury says general principles are of more importance than the paricular case under discussion. These priniples appear to the Queen's Government to have been accurately laid down by Lord Palmerston on the occasion of the sudden dismissal of Minister Bulwer from the Court of Madrid in 1848.

A quotation follows from Palmerson's communication to Isturz to the effect that international law entitles the nation to which a demand for the withdrawal of its minister has been addressed, to decline to comply with the demand, even though grave and weighty reasons have been as-

AN INTERVIEW DENIED. and France Did Not Discuss the Blockade of Tunis. PARTS, January 11 .- A semi-official note was issued to-day denying the truthfulness of the Vienna Tagblatt's account of the interview between Count Menobrea, the Italian ambassador, and M. Goblet, Minister of Foreign Affairs, in relation to Tunisan affairs. The note states that the subject of an Italian blockade of Tunis was not mentioned at the interview. In regard to schools, France from the outset has assumed that the Tunisan decree only applied to schools to be established in the future. The decree required that the authorities should be notified of the opening pect them for hygienic and moral reasons in the presence of the Consul of the country to which the school belonged.

FRANCE EXPECTS LABOR AGITATION.

President Lerover, in His Address to the Senate, Says it Must be Expected. PARIS. January 11 .- M. Lerover, in as suming the Presidency of the Senate to-day, said that his almost unanimous election to the office proved its desire to maintain lib-which was more than ever imperative. "The year 1889," he said, "will not spare us labor agitation. We shall examine measures promptly and independently, and we shall know how to combat such agitation with patriotism and energy. erty and order and to support the President.

The French Government Will Not Hurry to Relieve the Panama Canal Company. Paris, January 11 .- A deputation of Panama canal bondholders, headed by Count Dillon, President of the Union Des Actionaires Et Obligataires, to-day called upon M. Goblet, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and pointed out the urgency of the necessity for the passage by the Senate before the meeting of the Canal Company, on January 26, of the bill to reform the bankruptcy laws.

M. Goblet expressed his sympathy with the bondholders, but said that the Govern-ment was compelled to act in the matter with the greatest reserve.

WANT THEIR OWN PRIESTS. German Catholics in America to be Gratified in Their Desire.

ROME, January 11.-The Propaganda after hearing arguments on both sides in re-lation to the complaint of the Irish Bishops in America that German Catholics residing in mainly Irish districts insist upon having special parishes of their own, with German priests and schools, has instructed Cardinal Melchers to prepare for the Pope a report on the subject.

The selection of Cardinal Melchers is thought to indicate a decision in favor of AMERICA AHEAD.

The New Dynamite Cruiser Leads the World for Speed-Secretary Whit-

> PHILADELPHIA, January 11 .- The third official trip of the new United States dynamite gun cruiser Vesuvius was made over the new Government course at the Delaware breakwater this morning. The trial was the most successful of the three, the vessel attaining the rate of 21.64 knots per hour. The contract calls for but 20 knots per hour. The speed lacks but six-tenths per hour. The speed lacks but six-tenths of a rate of 25 statute miles per hour, and places the Vesuvius in the front rank of occan greyhounds, having attained the fastest speed of any steamer afloat.

The length of the course was officially certified to the builders by the Naval Board as being 2.54 knots, and the Messrs. Cramp were notified that the Vesuvius would have to go over each way in 7 minutes 37 1-5 seconds in order to attain a mean speed of not less than 20 knots an hour, as required by statute. The first run over the course was knots per hour—the statutory requirement being handsomely exceeded in each run. At 8 o'clock this morning the vessel, ac-companied by the Dispatch, started for the course to make her trial trip. Making the first run the steam was of 165 pounds pres-sure while the mean average revolutions of sure, while the mean average revolutions of the screw was 279. The run was made in 6 minutes, 39 seconds, or 58 seconds better than the contract calls for, and the speed attained was 22.95 knots. On the return trip the run was made in 7.30 against a strong wind and tide, the vessels attaining a rate of 20,35 knots, making the mean average 21.64 knots. This ended the trial trip, and the subjoined telegrams indicate the degree of satisfaction among those interested: Lieutenant Cowles telegraphed Secretary Whitney as follows: "Success; 21.64 knots." Secretary Whitney immediately wired the builders thus:

I congratulate you upon the result of the trial of the Vesuvius. Considering the size and class of the vessel, and the weights carried, you can justly claim to have surpassed all records heretofore made. The result of this trial shows the superior ity of American ship-building over the world. This is the first time America has beaten the world since the building of the Menominee in 1856.
